It has been said that "given a good set of blueprints, a builder can construct anything." Houses, stores, apartment buildings, skyscrapers, the Taj-Mahal, and even the Quincy Crisis Center: they are all the results of builders following a good set of Blueprints.

We are the builders of our lives. It is the goal of every college and university to better equip it's students to live profitable, successful lives. They provide the Blueprints, more specifically, here at ENC it is the attempt to nurture us to the point to where we allow God to become the architect of our lives, who uses ENC as one of His drafting tools.

The Master Architect draws up different Blueprints for each individual. Some are skyscrapers, while others are villas. Some are palaces, while others are beach houses. For best results, Jesus Christ needs to be the cornerstone of each building. If not, the building can never stand.

Hopefully, ENC has helped provide the Blueprints for your life — at least partially, because the Master Designer has a habit of Blueprinting for additions and renovations throughout the building process of life.

In what ever type of structure that you live your life, there will be rooms for every aspect of it. Whether you live in an uptown apartment or a split level Ranch-house, you must decorate it yourself. Think of Student Life as an interior decorator that is waiting for your input. How you live your Student Life can change a stoic chamber into a romper room, or renovate the cellar to a den (with a wide-screen TV). Your decorations tell your story. Don't knock Mark Brown's taste in streamers until you look past them to see friends working together for a good time.

Annual Student Leadership Retreat

The Flight of Fancy

Every summer since anyone can remember the RA's have escaped North to the Lake Country of New Hampshire to prepare for the long awaited onslaught of yet another school year.

This year, in coordination with the Dean of Student's Office, members of General Student Council joined them at Alton Bay Christian Conference Center in the shores of lovely Lake Winnepesakee for two days of information, training, fellowship, sharing, spiritual growth and tons of just plain fun.

Although activities included swimming, sun bathing, water skiing, eating, SLEEPING, and crazy games; the highlight of the entire retreat was the high intensity, pressure packed volleyball game matching Barnard's Bruisers against Grave's Diggers. Special efforts were contributed by star spikers Mary Paul and Brad Patch, and champion netter Steve Fetter and Steve Metcalfe combo. Linda Whitling declined involvement, but led all onlookers in a rousing Crusader "Go Go Banana" cheer.

To cap off the whole special time, Dr. Barnard treated the whole crew to one last great meal at the Hooksett Pizza Hut, before heading back to Nazland. Meanwhile Exec. StuCo members were off to continue their quest for knowledge to the Nease abode in St. Albans, Vermont.

So if you haven't been happy with your RA, or StuCo has not been doing the job you'd like them to . . . Take off — to the Great White North. It's the beauty way to go!

Registration Blues

The Lines

Registration . . . what a wonderful time of the year. Fresh faces, fresh people, fresh tans, fresh clothes, and fresh worries. Where am I living? Did my roommate transfer at the last minute? Should I stay on the meal plan? Sign this sheet for hazing?! What's hazing? Where do I pick up my mailbox key? Is this the financial aid line? What do you mean it's a four hour wait?! No one gets to see this ID picture do they? I have to pay a dollar for my yearbook picture? Does this car registration allow me to park on campus? These are some of the comments that we make and hear during registration.

But the atmosphere of anxiety is squelched by the newness of a school year. This is the time to make goals, commitments, renew old friendships, and make new friends. For Seniors, a time to make memories, and to make nine months either shorter or longer. Most of all, registration means being a part of family for the last year, for the first year, or the middle years. ENC family? What does that mean?

Thompson's Island

All School Outing

The calm after the storm. Ahhh . . .

As the rain came down in torrents, I sat on the boat as it tugged across the water, completely relaxed and happy. Yes, it was my first event as Director of Recreational Life, and it turned out pretty good.

The All School Outing was held for the second year on Thompson's Island in Boston Harbor. It started with a half-hour boat ride out to the island where fun and games awaited everyone who came. All 170 people, consisting of a mix of both upperclassmen and freshmen, seemed to have a good time.

Some of the days events included a 4 on 4 Volleyball Tournament, a Horseshoe Tournament, softball, ultimate frisbee, and football. While all of this was going on, people spent relaxing time just talking and getting to know each other. Also, Alan Soucier of WENC spent the entire day behind the sound system so we could enjoy music for the day. That was a real plus.

Except for the shortage of forks and cups, the meal was a success. Thanks to Pioneer, we had all the food we could eat. It was cookout style, with hamburgers, hotdogs, and the works. Our very own StuCo made for great cooks!

The day ended on the chilly side, with the storm clouds rolling in. That did not stop the fun, though. A skit by Fortress and special music by Leslie Martin wrapped up the afternoon, just before the rain came down.

Special thanks goes out to Dave Bickom, Karen Casey, Kara Farrington, The StuCo Cooks, Alan Soucier, Fortress, and Leslie Martin for making the day more fun for everyone, and making my job that much easier.

Homecoming

Meritt Mann assists in the placing of the Homecoming Robe on Pam while President Paul gets ready to present her with flowers.

The reigning queen from 1988, Rebecca Atwood, headed the procession at the Coronation service, escorted by her brother. Pamela Weeks who was escoarted by Berry Henck, was crowned the homecoming Queen.

The Homecoming Court was serenaded by the men from the A Capella Choir and from the Men's Ensemble. Nautilus also presented a slide show of the homecoming events. This year's theme was Reflections. Because of the theme five previous Homecoming queens were present for this special ceremony.

Big Sister — Little Sister Party!!

We're clowning around.

On Sunday evening, October 1st, A.W.S. once again sponsored its Big Sister — Little Sister party. Designed to welcome incoming freshmen women, this year's party really accomplished what it set out to do. With the theme of "We're Clowning Around", those attending were greeted with decorations of red, orange, green, and yellow balloons and crepe paper. The party soon got underway with a lip sync of Amy Grant's "Love of Another Kind," presented by the A.W.S. council, all dressed as clowns. Following this, the officers brought greetings, and presented prizes for best costume, oldest and youngest little sister, and the little sister from the farthest distance. When the last prize was awarded, the lady clowns could eat.

This year the feast included cookies, ice cream, and soda, along with masses of popcorn, making the ENC cafeteria feel even more like a circus. Soon it was time for the devotional, as presented by chaplain, Mary Beth Agee. This year's A.W.S. council borrowed the Nazarene theme of Dare To Run and chose to use it as the organization's year long goal, as it seemed especially appropriate to women. Mary Beth's talk followed this theme, giving each women a goal for which to strive this year.

The party closed with a suitable skit presented by treasurer, Lissa Budoff and friends. Hopefully, each upperclassman left knowing they made a new member of our community welcome, and each freshman left feeling a little more a part of the ENC family and, more importantly, a part of the women of Eastern Nazarene college.

Farewell to the President

Dr. Nease to be the new college commissioner

On Friday, September 15, 1989, the ENC family, the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene and the community of Quincy said their fond farewells to President Dr. Stephen W. Nease. In June, Dr. Nease was elected by the General Board of the Church of the Nazarene to serve as the first Education Commissioner for the denomination. In that position, he will serve as advocate and advisor for 31 colleges, universities and graduate schools around the world. For this reason, we gathered in honor and thanked him with mixed emotion.

The convocation was officiated by Rev. John Nielson who introduced over twenty people bearing gifts of appreciation and words of acclamation. It was obvious that Dr. Nease has touched the hearts and lives of so many people. Presentations were made on behalf of students, staff, faculty, trustees, clubs, organizations and institutions.

Music was provided by ENC's A Cappella Choir and Madrigal Singers. It was exciting to see how the words of songs such as "He Hideth My Soul," so appropriately addressed the ceremony at hand and coincided with the words of speakers such as Dr. Donald Young and Edward S. Mann.

Although many gifts were bestowed upon Dr. and Mrs. Nease, two which stand out are an $800.00 gift certificate for new patio furniture, presented by the "ENC Family," and a $10,000 check given on behalf of the Board of Trustees. This will be very helpful to the Nease's as they move to Kansas City, however, no amount is sufficient to express our gratitude to the Nease's for being "true to God and Alma Mater."

The evening ended with a beautiful reception in Lahue Center as final greetings and good-byes were exchanged.

Going, going, SOLD!

The Annual Meat Market

In October, AWS once again sponsored its TWIRP Auction. Designed to open TWIRP week, which is ENC's version of Sadie Hawkins' Day, the auction consists of the selling of eligible men on campus as escorts for dates to be paid for by their purchasers. Hence the term TWIRP, which stands for, "The Woman Is Responsible to Pay." Traditionally an event to raise money for a worthy charity, ladies bid on men chosen by the Association of Women Students council; and, if a purchaser's bid is the highest, she agrees to pay 10 percent of the bid to the charity chosen by AWS. Traditionally, the amount bid is also to be the amount spent on the date.

This year's auction proved to be both a profitable and a fun time. The AWS council chose to give the money raised this year to the Agape Fund, a fund set up to help those in need within the college community. Obviously, those participating in the auction agreed this was a good choice, since involvement was as strong as ever.

The evening began in the cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. with the masters of ceremonies, Deb Laramee and Lissa Budoff, announcing the new "ground rules" for the auction. This year the auction was to be more of a calm time with the audience controlling their excitement. Lissa and Deb presented specifications as to rowdiness, crowd volume, and standing on tables. Those waiting to bid readily agreed upon this so the auction began. Occupying the position of "First-To-Be-Sold" was Mr. Vincent Stringer. Traditionally this is one of the most difficult spots to be in as the audience has not yet warmed up to the idea of buying a date. We soon found out, however, that Vincent had nothing to worry about, and the auction got off to a strong start. Men continued to step up to the block for approximately an hour, and in the end AWS raised more than $1000.00 for the Agape Fund. The highest bid went to Lisa Thibodeau, who bought John VandenOever, a third year veteran of the auction, for the fee of $850.00. Once again, the AWS TWIRP auction proved to be both a time of fun, and a chance for students to do something for their community.

The ABC's Of Camping

Ants, Beans & Canoes

This year 23 students participated in the annual camping trip to Windsor Hills Nazarene Camp. The first order of business was to set up the tents and get the campfire started. (the fire was ablaze for the entire weekend.) The highlight of the first evening was singing praise songs around the campfire. Jonathon Fisk even accompanied the singing with his guitar.

All of the meals during the weekend were prepared over an open campfire. Fred Harrington, the coordinator of the meals, did a great job of keeping the campers well-fed.

Saturday's activities included football, volleyball, canoeing, sailing, hiking, "roller coaster" style rides in the camp truck, and "pig-piling."

Heritage Day

Soundings From The Past: Bearing To The Future

Heritage Day and Chapel, it is optional so of course it is normally the one that most students will "cop" out of. Originally called Founder's Day, Heritage Day is a time for reminiscing and a day in which the focus is remembering the ENC of yesterday. This year being one of the Nautilus Staff, I had to go . . . but, boy was it worth it. It all started with the cute procession of everyone but the students marching in. I was glad for once to be a spectator and not a participant. President Cecil Paul came and gave the greetings and introduction. The theme of the chapel service was "Soundings from the Past: Bearings to the Future" (kind of cute!) and Professor Jan Lanham and Professor Lowell Hall were the speakers.

I think the highlight of Heritage Day was not the great talks from the speakers on the platform, but rather the tradition behind it. Heritage Day, to me, is watching our Professors, staff, our education council, and trustees enter in their Academic Jams (robes). Heritage Day is also hearing our choir sing and listening to our band play. It's pretty neat, huh? Am I building a picture in your mind yet? Maybe you should go next time, too!!

The All-New Gong Show

A Few Nazzie talents

On Friday, our peaceful campus was interrupted by the sound of a gong, as we hosted our very own "Gong Show" in the Student Center auditorium. John VandenOever did a terrific job as the MC, along with the careful and honest judges, Dr. Steve McCormick, Lois Know, and Jack and Faye McInturff.

The evening began at 7:30 with an act by Rob Howard and Kipp Caldwell, dressed in tuxedos and presenting a song with the extra flair of a cane. This first act was gonged — but it wasn't the only one. Others included a comic without any jokes, a belcher (Wade Thompson) who couldn't summon a belch, and a group of cheerleaders who didn't cheer, but jumped around the stage kicking and screaming. Still two other gonged acts remained — both of which were music groups, but each were quite unique. First were the "Singing Beanines," a group of freshmen who sang some nice hymns of the church. The second group sang about the church — this group entitled "Pistols and Petunias," sang the song "Welcome to the Chapel" and rocked the house down. Meanwhile, Mrs. McInturff enjoyed examining the handsome bass guitar player who was jamming close to her.

A very special guest similar to the "Unknown Comic" on the TV Gong Show, was present here on our ENC show. He was a mysterious dancer who would make special appearances throughout the show wearing a bag over his head as well as spandex and a skirt. This mysterious dancer was also part of a group "Vision," which was one of the three acts that didn't get gonged. "Vision" featured a group of three girls and two guys that lipsynched and "moved" to the beat of hymns set to 50-styled music. Finally, an act called, "The NIV Rappers" came out and told the audience not to bow to anything but Jesus Christ. The winning act was "Vision," Brad Badgerow was the mysterious dancer, and it was a terrific evening of fun.

Russ Taff

Russ Taff Live

"I Still Believe!"

Thursday, November 2, was the day that Rus Taff came to Eastern Nazarene College, bringing with it people from all over Massachusetts as well as from surrounding states. The concert started at 7:30. Two artists preceded Russ Taff's appearance. The first was Brook Williams. His works had appeared on the Twelve New Faces album. He played the guitar and his music had the feel of country music.

Williams' performance was followed by that of Julie Miller. Miller had been a night club singer before she became a Christian. After her performance, she asked that an offering be taken. The money raised in the offering was to be donated to an orphanage here in Massachusetts.

After a twenty minute intermission, he finally came. Russ Taff and his band were her to perform!

His concert, began with the song "Winds of Change". As is his style, he performed music suited to a variety of tastes. His song, "You're My Brother, You're My Sister", was a true crowd pleaser.

While he sang, many people stood up and held hands with those around them. My favorite song of the night was "I Still Believe". I have always loved this song because of the message in the words. They tell us that no matter what happens, "through the pain/ through the grief, . . . I still believe."

I enjoyed it and I know many others enjoyed it, too.

Into The Woods

Hikers The Few, The Proud

Saturday, November 11th, marked ENC's First Annual Hiking Trip. Ten students and two guests woke up early (and left 45 minutes late) to climb Mt. Monadnock in Jaffrey, NH. The small group offered a cozy atmosphere and the opportunity to get to know a few more students on this vast campus. (Sniff, sniff . . . Does anyone smell chocolate?)

After a few wrong turns, we found our way to the bottom of the mountain, looked at the view and began our climb. Most had brought gloves and extra sweatshirts in preparation for the 60 mph winds at the summit. Gradually, the dirt trails changed to rocky paths and eventually to sleek rock. Just as I began to wonder why in the world I was putting myself through such torment, we reached a cliff and looked out over the miles and miles of creation that stretched beneath us. (I know I smell chocolate.) Despite the fact that we climbed for hours, the display of New Hampshire's beautiful Autumn that we saw was spectacular.

Two miles and two hours later, we reached the frigid summit. The game plan had been to eat lunch at the top, but our brains were not so numb that we couldn't realize a change of plans was in order. We descended a little ways and found a warmer, if not drier spot to eat. Dennis Cousin's banana had been so badly beaten he literally had to drink it with a straw! And we realized why Kara Farrington had lagged behind during the ascent — she had been eating Oreo cookies all day! (See, I told you I smelled chocolate.) And the beverage, of course was Mountain Dew.

Our first hiking trip proved to be a success. We had a well-needed rest from studies, a refreshing day of fun, and the opportunity to get in touch with nature. Thanks and congratulations to Jamie Herbertson and her staff for an excellent job (and to Kara for sharing her Oreo's.)

The 55th Annual Messiah

The True Meaning of Christmas

The 1989-90 Choral Union did an excellent job of continuing the tradition of performing The Messiah at Eastern Nazarene College. The fifty-fifth annual presentation was given on August 2 and 3 in the sanctuary of Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, and was conducted by Professor Robert Howard.

The Choral Union, made up of students and community participants, performed George Frederick Handel's work with the accompaniment of the Wollaston Orchestra. Vocal solos consisted of Vincent Stringer, bass; Prof. Robert Howard, tenor; Debra Patchell, mezzo-soprano; and Prof. Kimberly Blaney, soprano. Professor Brandy Millican accompanied on the harpsichord; and Paul Brody provided a exceptional solo on the piccolo-trumpet.

To help the audience participate in this festive evening, Prof. Howard asked everyone to join with the choir in singing Christmas Carols at the conclusion of the performance.

The combination of the wonderful score by Handel and the performance by these talented musicians led to an incredible musical portrayal of Christ's passion, death and resurrection. This years performance was truly worthy of the fifty-four years of tradition with which it has now joined.

A "STUCO" Christmas

Food, Fun and Mr. Slim

On December 17, almost 300 students gathered in the dining hall for the first annual semi-formal Christmas banquet. The evening was entitled "Christmas at the Naz," and it included such delights as a buffet style dinner, Vaudeville entertainment by Mr. Slim and L.J., the annual Christmas Tree lighting and a movie presentation of "Miracle on 34th Street." These elements all worked together to satisfy the Executive Student Council's desire to provide an evening of great entertainment at minimal cost.

It was exciting to be a part of the event, and to share what we as Christians believe to be one of the most important holidays of the year with those that we have grown to love. Hopefully, this can be the start of a new E.N.C. tradition.

A Winter Wonderland

Snow Fun or Not Snow Fun?

They say that people change when a full moon is born, they say the earth is affected by the motion of the tides, I wonder what they would say about what snow does to students at the Naz?

Normal everyday students are transformed into snowball weilding maniacal beings. Lovers start dumping each other into the white powder, enemies use it as a cover for having fun. Not even the hallowed halls of the dorms are protected from the metamorphosized students. Munro suffers the most damaged. Ignorant freshman unknowingly invite malice upon themselves when they oh so non-chalantly open their window in the middle of the night. Fines are levied, apologizes are made, but everyone knows that the next time the white stuff falls from the sky there will be a change in even the most noble student.

However the snow does not necessarily bring evil onto the campus; its purpose is gemini. The campus is transformed into a wonderful winter wonderland. The ground which once as brown and muddy is now covered with snow — the campus becomes a symbol of beaut

What the Hell's Happ'n Doc?

Bleeding for a cause

On three occasions this year, the Massachusetts Red Cross came to take E.N.C. blood. These bleedings took place in the Fall, January and Spring semesters. The Fall bloodletting was sponsored locally by the sophomore class, while the latter two were taken care of by the freshman class. Dominos once again provided pizza for all those who were hardy enough to bleed for a good cause.

The efficiency of the operation seems to have improved over past years, so the bloodlines did not seem as long as usual. For this reason, the bloodcount has been on the rise. Though not everyone on campus volunteered to be plugged, there were enough bleeders around to make the Red Cross happy.

Aside from those few unfortunate souls who were unable to give, whose veins did not cooperate, or who were woozy (and lucky) enough to receive post-donation attention, the process was kept flowing smoothly by the expert pins and needles of the Red Cross employees and volunteers. This helped to make the bleeders among us happy as well.

We sincerely sympathize with those who did not bleed well and congratulate those who did. Blood good job!

A Time to Learn, A Time to Care

The 15th annual Business Forum brought ogether nearly 300 students, faculty mem- ers, and community leaders on Tuesday, March 27, to emphasize the role of the Chris- ian in the business world.

"One goal (of the Forum) is for business najors to meet community leaders and see hat (they) can make it in the business world s Christians," stated Business Club President Bill Esselstyn.

"We also want to show business majors they an make it if they work hard at it," noted Esselstyn. He added, however, that the forum lso gives majors experience in planning a large usiness gathering.

Students from the Leadership Seminar Class serve as the primary planners for the orum. Esselstyn points out that although the Business Club sponsors the event, the majority f the ideas come out of the Leadership Seminar Class.

"The whole evening is for the business student," stated Business Department Head Dr. Robert Hubbard. He noted that students plan he forum, and at the same time benefit from t.

The evening also held particular significance, for it served as a memorial to forum ounder John M. Warren, who died several months ago. In alluding to Warren's goal for he forum, Dr. Hubbard stated, "He wanted o bring in speakers who would demonstrate being successful and still having a personal faith."

Warren owned the John Warren Lightning Rod Co., which he founded in 1950 for conducting lightning rod research. Through his dedication to quality and service to his customers, Warren made his lightning rods the standard of quality for lightning rods in the Philadelphia area.

Throughout the years, Warren has made numerous monetary and personal commitments to ENC. The Business Forum, which he initiated in conjunction with President Emeritus Edward S. Mann, is one such donation to the college community.

Warren's daughter and son-in-law, Nina and Henry Lancaster, will continue the annual Forum as a memorial to Warren's dedication. As Dr. Hubbard asserts, "We are very happy that (the family is) going to continue the forum in Mr. Warren's memory."

Quincy Mayor James Sheets, a 1957 ENC alumnus, delivered the keynote address for the evening. Sheets focused on the rewards and frustrations of public service, and stressed the need for faith during the ups and downs of political life.

Business major Eric Pape pointed out, "(The forum) was a great success, and I'm glad to know that the John Warren's family has decided to keep it going."

Trash Bags, Rakes, and Push Brooms

Quincy City Clean Up

Have you ever done anything that makes you feel warm inside or that makes you want to do more? I had always known that there was a problem of pollution; but I'd never realized the extent until the Community Cleanup on April 28, 1990. I learned that there is much more to be done that meets the eye. The Community Cleanup exposed me to things I had overlooked, and what we did that day was only the tip of the iceberg.

I got up at 8 a.m. on a Saturday morning to prepare for the day ahead. We met in the Student Center at 9 to go to Beechwood Community Center to get our instructions for the day. We separated into groups with our trash bags, rakes and push brooms. I began to clean up around the perimeter of the school while others went to White Rock, Elm Avenue and Sailor's Pond.

As I finished a particular section, I could look back and see what a difference raking a few leaves had made. I thought of how beautiful the city would look if it were always clean.

Our group of between twenty and thirty people did a great job and were pleased with the results. If these few people could do a great job, imagine how much more could have been done if there were more people. Be sure to get involved next time an opportunity like this arises.

Power and Politics!!

The Race Is On

Elections! Ya gotta love this time of year. This is where those with a VISION for the future, those who are politically minded, those with big egos, and yes even those with a natural concern for student life SHOOT for a position on the student council.

Let me take you on an ESCAPADE of what happens to our campus walls, doors, floors, and even the comfort of the bathrooms fall at the mercy of the contestants, with slogans, promises, and even a little EXPERIENCE of what they can do for you.

Pitch battles break out between opponents and supporters alike, with only a small percentage CHOOSING to love. They all have their choise who they believe is the best VERSATILE person for the job. BEYOND all this squabbling, the student body is really UNITED and everybody knows that it is all in the name of good FUN and FELLOWSHIP.

BACK TO THE BASICS, on the day of elections, only the right piece of the PUZZLE falls into place. Now everyone must TYPE IN or rather WRITE IN the name that they believe will UNLOCK THE POTENTIAL for ENC's future and the potential within us all.

Finally only the winners GET INTO THE PICTURE as our new student council for the school year 1990-1991.

Introducing Prez. Brad Badgerow, Vice Fred Harrington, Sec. Julie Benes, SMO Tina Kern, Social Laurie O'Brien, Rec. Jeff Shobert, Nauti James Heyward, and Cam. Cam. Bill Ridenhour.

Spring Fever Weekend

If You Blinked . . .

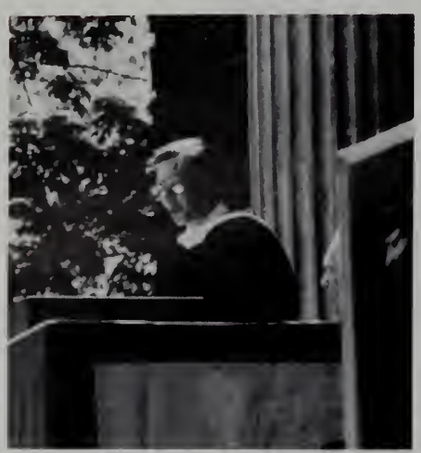
The End Of The Year



Commencement

As always, the end of the school year came much sooner than anyone had expected, and for some, sooner than wanted. But, as we all know, all good things must come to an end; and we must move on to bigger and brighter horizons, because time stands still for no man. Blah, blah, blah.

Commencement weekend, this year, fell on the weekend of the 27th and 28th of May, Memorial Day weekend. This year's ceremonies marked the 68th time that ENC has held commencement ceremonies. However, this year marked a more special occasion as well, the installation of Dr. Cecil Paul as the President of Eastern Nazarene College.

President Paul's installation took place Sunday, May 27, as a part of the Baccalaureate Service on the front lawn of the campus. The installation was performed by Dr. Roy E. Carnahan, the chairman of the board of trustees, and was consecrated with a prayer by Dr. Raymond W. Hurn, general superintendent. Dr. Paul then gave an installation response and the baccalaureate sermon.

Monday, May 28, saw the graduation of another class from Eastern Nazarene College. Richard F. Schubert, vice chairman of the board of trustees, gave the commencement address. The degrees were then conferred on those graduating seniors and graduate students who had survived and shown the fortitude necessary to receive a degree of advanced learning.

Ideas that are formed by my mind in its most farthest pole. Voices in my head continue to scream "make an imprint on the world" — Have a blueprint on life and follow through." Zora Montage

Webster's defines a blueprint simply as, "a plan of action." A plan of action, simple, direct, truthful. What is a point of action though if it does not involve people. Darwin pointed out that men are "social animals", in essence we need each other, our blueprints cannot work, be feasible or understandable unless we learn to understand that people are the blueprint of the world. That is what college and the whole life experience is about, people, courses of actions . . . Blueprints.

THE CLASS

By the time you receive this yearbook, you will already have embarked on your life after college. Career choices will have been made, graduate school courses will have begun, and new relationships will be developing.

As you donned your gowns, marched from the student center, and said good-bye to your friends on graduation day, you may have felt a little uncertain about what the future would hold. Hopefully, you have since rediscovered that change is challenging and results in greater self-knowledge, firmer values, and deeper faith.

At Eastern Nazarene College, we gave you time, a place, and the support to ground your identity, your intimacies, and your values in Christ. We provided you with skills to help you earn a living. We also encouraged you to serve others in whatever field of interest you selected to explore.

As you embark on your new lives, I hope you continue to apply the spirit of Christian service you demonstrated during your time as students here. Don't lose yourselves in the pursuit of a luxurious lifestyle. Don't limit your idea of success to the Yuppie solution sold by today's media.

Whatever career choices you make , if you find your identity, your intimacies, and your values questions solidly based on the ultimate level, then you will find yourself drawn into some challenging, exciting, rewarding, and inspiring dreams.

Mother Theresa was asked whether she got tired and discouraged with her work -- the endless poverty, disease, and misery in the cities of India. Her answer reflects her decision to find success in service and a life with Christ. "My job is not to succeed, but to be faithful to my mission," she said.

May you have your identity, your intimacies, and your values so grounded in Christ that you discover this dream to live by.

"Have you not known? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary, his understanding is unsearchable. He gives power to the faint, and to him who has no might he increases strength.

Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted; but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40: 28-31

MICHELLE BERKEY

For a long time they looked at the river beneath them, saying nothing, and the river said nothing too, for it felt very quiet and peaceful on this summer afternoon.

"Tigger is all right really," said Piglet lazily.

"Of course he is," said Christopher Robin.

"Everybody is really," said Pooh. "That's what I think," said Pooh. "But, I don't suppose I'm right," he said.

"Of course you are," said Christopher Robin.

I can't believe that four years have gone by so quickly, but time flies when you're having fun, right? I guess it was fun. There were lots of times when life wasn't wonderful at all, but that's O.K. I think the good outweighs the bad. Most importantly I had the opportunity to meet so many people who taught me about love and friendship and how to keep pressing on and how to not build walls around yourself even though you might get hurt and . . . What would I do without you all? Thanks! You're all right really.

KAY LYNN PERRY

"Knowledge puffs up, but love builds up." (1 Cor. 8:1)
I am very grateful for my education. I am grateful to all the people in my life who have made my education possible: my mother and father, my husband, my parents-in-law. They have given money, time, support, and prayer. Thank you, family.

I am grateful for my education because it has stretched me intellectually, spiritually and socially.

However, it is sometimes easy among the educated to value education over all else. But for the Christian there is more to life than education.

My prayer is that I will rely on my education for my sense of success, or my self-esteem, but that I will be successful in seeking God. Realizing that where their is knowledge, it will pass away (1 Cor. 13:8), I am setting my sights on an eternal goal: I want to be like Jesus. I want his love to be perfected in me. And this is the most important thing I have ever learned.

STEPHEN CAMPBELL

Eastern Nazarene College has been called "An Institution for Higher Education," and it has fulfilled that purpose in my life. When I arrived at ENC I was anticipating that I would learn more book knowledge, and I have; I am leaving with a college diploma. However, my degree represents more than classes, tests, and papers, I have grown as an individual. Living within the ENC community has taught me how to be a better friend, a better leader, and most importantly, a better Christian. Eastern Nazarene College has provided an environment in which I have received a call to the ministry, a lifetime companion, and lifelong friends. I am now preparing to leave this "family" and as I look back over the last four years of my life one thought keeps going through my mind. "Dear Father, thank You for this 'Christian Institution of Higher Education,' I have learned here!"

SHARON LYNN CAPEN

I think about the past four years at ENC, I feel quite led. Before arriving at ENC as a Freshman, I was so unsure nat to expect. However, time has shown me that I definitely e the right decision to come here. I have especially grown to eciate and admire the spiritual influence that many of my essors have exemplified. The concern and dedication of the lty of ENC has been both an inspiration and support for my s at college.

urther, I want to take this opportunity to thank the people I owe the most to, my parents. Without their continued ort and encouragement, my college experience would not been as meaningful. Thanks mom and dad for your love and hat it entails.

has been evident throughout my time at college that God has good to me and has used people as blessings in my life.

I'm not sure what I should say here. How does one compress a college experience into a paragraph consisting of a hundred words, or so? If someone was to tell me six years ago that I would not be graduating from a Christian college, getting married, and going on to attend Yale for graduate work in theology, I would have thrown my beer at him. Yet, after half a decade of being a Christian, this seems to be the case. And I praise God for his innumerable other blessings.

does this time have to be forgotten? I am realizing now that each day is as precious as the next. Time is wasting away and people have come and gone. Is it my insecurities that desire to hold on to the past? Or perhaps I am discovering the true joy of living a life willingly and totally dedicated to Christ. I do not want to let go but I know that many new experiences await me. So I will cherish these wonderful friends that I have made and times where God has illuminated many lives, including mine . . . Thank you Lord . . .

ANN DEAN

My memories of Ann Dean and the collective memory that ENC will keep of her are probably somewhat different. No one else here will remember her as the college roommate of her first and second years.

ENC will keep an impression of her vibrant personality. Her academic record will be in place as will her many, many achievements, none of which were accomplished half heartedly. However the imprint that has lasting power is that memory of Ann as the arm of Jesus. "Jesus is everything, nothing else matters." "I want them to see Jesus!" Those are the things that Ann has told and, more importantly, has been to me. Although I do love to reminisce about all the fun (and otherwisc) times we have shared as roommates, it is this Ann, the one that I know now as a friend, who has so impacted my life, and her graduation will be (as trite as this may seem) only the beginning of a life that is a tribute to Christ and of friendship whose eternal qualities are those which I count estimable.

SHARON GAILEY

Sharon is best known to her friends as "woxo". The two places you find her most, probably, are in the Munro computer lab plugging away on programs (or maybe just having fun with friends) or in the Register's Office, where she has worked for many years. Some of her favorite hobbies are talking (that's an understatement) and photography. She has been involved in a variety of things at E.N.C., but will probably best be remembered for the crazier things in life. True, she would like to be remembered as someone that was fun to be with; but even more than that, she would like to be remembered as someone who truly cared about others and her commitment to the Lord.

"Trust in the Lord with all thy heart and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths" Philippians 3:5,6

My most rewarding experiences at E.N.C. have been playing with Sentry and having the opportunity to work as a youth director at the Malden Church of the Nazarene. Through both Experiences I have had the opportunity to really reach out and change others lives. I have also enjoyed being able to learn, to grow mentally as well as spiritually. I think the professors have made the differENCe for me at E.N.C. They have been academic as well as spiritual models for me. They have made learning enjoyable and have shown me something much more valuable than sheer knowledge. My most enjoyable experiences at E.N.C. have been late night Nintendo Techmo Bowl Football games.

Dear Ryan and Kevin,

Hey guys! Can you believe it, a letter from your brother. Sorry I haven't written in a while. (O.K. so it's been a few years, but I have thought about you a bunch.) I've been really busy with classes, councils, practicum, friends, work, and just plain old over committing myself. Remember when I went to Scotland my Sophomore year, and Belize last winter? They were some of the most incredible experiences I've ever had. It's really amazing to feel like God is using you. Of course, my roommate and my other friends here have been pretty important too. I'll really miss all those late night talks, pranks, and pints of lo mein.

Anyway, I'm not the brother I was when I left home. Patience, sensitivity, and commitment are some of the new words that I've learned. I'm not sure if I picked them up at school or just in life, but I'm trying to "use them" whenever I have a chance. Insecurity is also a big part of my "vocabulary" now. Well, I have a meeting to go to, would you believe I have to sell rice krispy treats. Tell Mom, Dad, and everyone I said "Hi", and that I'll be home . . . soon.

Love ya,
Pete

THE CASTLE

Under siege, under attack,
The people have built their walls,
Higher and stronger than any crusader's,
Fortify Donmegal and the Falls.
Their lives fenced in,
From over a century of war,
Over God and a country
From whom they've gone so far.
The tears they weep
Come against cold hard stone,
Intermingled with . . .
Bullets, Barbed-wire, Bombs . . .
and HATE!
Fenced in by their own passions,
Blinded by pride,
They look past their only way out
YOU!
I looked at the castle today,
And I didn't see LOVE.

LAURA LYNN MORICONI

"Be Shepherds of God's Flock that is under your care, serving as overseers not because you must, but because you are willing, as God wants you to be, not greedy for money, but eager to serve." 1 Peter 5:2

For those of you who know me — you know that I will be involved in mission work after I graduate. But for those of you who do not know me, I address this letter to you. I believe that all of us are included in God's plan for building His kingdom. However we must first build our spiritual strength. It is written in the book of Mark, that early in the morning while it was still dark Jesus got up to pray. As Jesus left this example for us, we too need to start the day off by dedicating it to Him thus allowing Him to direct us.

My challenge to all who read this is that you take to heart and strive to incorporate what 1 Peter 5:2 says about being eager to serve. In whatever capacities God leads you just serve. I know that in His time the Lord will direct my service to Him in whichever way he sees best. My prayer is that you will let him direct you also.

God Bless,
Laura Lynn Moriconi

Before I came to E.N.C. to study music, my der sister gave me fair warning. She informed e that I would have no social life here and would uly reside in Cove, not Munro Hall. Those were ary thoughts. Would my meals be slipped under practice room door, I wondered?

Four years here as a student have brushed ose naive worries. In reality, God gave me a onderful gift of family. They come from many fferent places, ranging from Virginia to Hong ong. We met and grew up here at E.N.C. hrough times of testing, we have reached out to e another with cards, food, talks, laughs, and ayers. We have sang together, lingered a while the alter together, and gathered to watch .A.S.H. at night on T.V. 38. Through this fam-, God's love finally made its home in my hesi-nt heart. Professors, friends, pastors, and hus-nd, God has not failed to use them all, my mily at E.N.C.

Looking into the mirror I see the reflection of someone different. Through out the past four years I have learned and grown as I have experienced the best and worst times of my life. Being an R.A. and volunteering at Pine Street Inn have been opportunities that have impacted my life tremendously. I am thankful for Friends and Professors who have supported me through everything.

Now God has brought me to another crossroad in my life. I am excited to see where my new journey will begin and where it will lead, but with all the changes I am scared to think about all the changes will hold. Going to Belize on a Work & Witness Team and San Diego '89 were two experiences where I learned about the many opportunities in which we are allowed to show compassion to people, to influence people, and to change peoples lives. I am leaving here to turn the world upside down (not on my own) but willing to be a vessel used to make a difference.

I once thought all that was important was whether I could succeed. I know now that success does not lay in transcript but in God's hands. God has taught me that, that which is important is the relationships that we build with Him and others. Through some special people I learned that during the most difficult times in life I can not run from God, but rather rest in his presence. I learned that it was not in trying, but in trusting and loving. I can not worry about the future or past, but pray that I will always stay in God's Plan.

I'm sitting here trying to figure out what to write. I don't know where to begin. I can't believe that college is almost over. Where did the four years go? I look back on all the friends that I have made and the experiences that I have shared and would not trade them for anything in the world. I am scared to death about graduating and leaving the security I have here, but on the other hand I'm excited to see what life has in store for me out in the real world. I'm thankful for the memories that I have here, because no matter what happens in the future I will always remember E.N.C.

As a Senior Psychology major I have been thinking quite a lot about the things I have learned about E.N.C. because it offers a program in Psychology that is taught out of a Christian perspective. This was important to me because Psychology has been and still is a very controversial issue in the Christian community.

By studying this discipline I have experienced a lot of help from my professors as well as other students. This has probably been my greatest experience at E.N.C. I have learned that positive and healthy relationships with other people are vital for the well-being of my body, soul, mind, and spirit.

"Oh that man would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!" (Psalm 107:8 KJV)

My praise is offered to the Lord for His enabling and abiding presence which has abundantly supplied the guidance, endurance, affirmation, and material resources required for this country boy to survive four years of college life in Boston.

These years have filled my heart with thanksgiving for my supportive family, especially for my parents for whom college education was not necessary to provide them with invaluable wisdom and ample intelligence.

May our God be praised for using ENC as the medium through which some of my most earnest prayers have been joyously answered; Elizabeth is indeed a precious blessing.

During the years of ENC, I have been thankful for my Lord's direction while contemplating life's decisions. He has also been faithful in His provision of the wherewithal needs to achieve these aims. It is my resolve that each success, and disappointment, be offered to Him for His glory and His service.

The growth of freshman year couldn't prepare me for what I was to face the next year as my Christianity and faith were chalienged in ways I never dreamt possible. As my sophomore year ended, I realized again how God had challenged me to come out and be the best I could be. Heading into junior year, I took on a job that I ALONE couldn't handle. And I didn't. Student Council gave me more than just organizational skills. It gave me friendship that can't and won't ever be broken by miles of distance. The summer of my junior year was a culmination of the year left behind as a Work-n-Witness trip gave me memories, people, and places that I'll never forget. So, now here I am with my senior year almost over. I have no idea what God has in store for me. I'm not the shy — timid — southern talking girl who only knew one person as a freshman any more. I was so worried then; and I should have been because I didn't know God then as I know Him now. And I'm worried now . . . because I do know God and I have a feeling He's got something pretty terrific in mind for me now. . . right?

On the campus of E.N.C. we have numerous sports programs. Some win consistently, some are new, some have losing seasons, but what characterizes Crusader sports is the dedication of the athletes and the support of the fans. Winning is important and as Crusaders we always try to do that, but sometimes we fall short, but we always do our best! Let's Go Red!

Woo-ooh! Hot to go!

A familiar pyramid.

Pep, vim, vigor, SPIRIT! These are only a few of the words which express the 89-90 basketball cheerleaders. The Co-captains were Junior Joyelle Burns for the women and Senior Mark Spence for the men. The other members of the women's team were: Lauri Ridgley (Jr.), Kathy Lawrence (Fr.), Jennifer Fish (Fr.), Rebecca Coleman (Fr.), and Rebekah Ridder (Fr.). As for the men's squad, they included: Ken MacCuish (Jr.), Terry Tanner (So.), Tim Nelson (Fr.), Ryan Smith (Fr.), and finally Michael Desrosiers (Fr.). Dominated by freshmen, the team showed remarkable improvement from last year.

Even in the midst of a loss the cheerleaders tried to keep the spirit of the crowd at a maximum level. With a variety of chants and cheers they involved the audience in a show of support for the team. At E.N.C. Cheerleading has grown to be a big part of basketball and many other sports.

Are Luau's Listed in the Nazarene Manual?

Once upon a time there was a volleyball team that was destined for greatness. It all began with eleven motley damsels who loved playing volleyball. And when they united on the court, greatness they achieved. Throughout the season, they battled like true crusaders to maintain their winning record, always keeping the goal of their quest in mind — the N.A.I.A. National Volleyball Tournament in Hawaii. Each victory brought the team closer to the ultimate contest of skill — Nationals. Finally, Nov. 10 came. On this long awaited day, the choice team to represent the Eastern region would be decided. It was ENC against St. Thomas Aquinas, coach against coach, player against player. Within 40 minutes, the vendetta was over and the decision finalized. Once again, the Crusader ladies triumphed. Plans and plane reservations to Hawaii were prepared only for the team to look on to contention with the best in the land: B.Y.U., Hilo, University of Hawaii . . . Ultimately, the blood, sweat, and tears shed by the crusader ladies paid off and their destiny was fulfilled. What was their prize? Teamwork, skills, and desire to win which were perfected beyond expectation. Overall, it was a good year, a learning year, a learning year and a winning year. ENC: 40 WINS; 4 LOSSES.

The quest was over.

And all lived happily ever after.

The team remembers these scenes well.

Alive and Kickin'!

With only six returning players from last year, and no seniors, the soccer team relied heavily on the talented, first year players. Captain Lonnie Crampsey, and the other returning players forged an intensely competitive and competent team. Our inexperience showed in our offensive output, we only scored on nine percent of our shots, while our opponents scored on twenty percent of their shots. However, there was a difference of only six percent in corner kicks taken, which showed the strong team pressure that we put on our opponents. Our record of, one win and eleven losses, doesn't reflect the dedication, attitude and quality was demonstrated in the respect they showed each other and the respect they earned on and off the field.

Cross Country

Cross Country this year had one of the toughest seasons that it has had in years. This was not due to the lack of people and talent but rather to the lack of dedication and perseverance.

The team started off the year with close to a full team of seven runners. But as the season continued, injuries to a couple key people and a drop of participation left the team with three runners at the end of the season., Carl Burgess, Captain, Eric Pape and Ray Brenner. Others who competed during season; Kurt Flemming, Brian Chase, and Tim Taylor.

With only three members the team was unable to compete as a team but they competed as individuals the team did pretty well.

Although this season did not turn out to be up to par with the winning tradition of E.N.C. cross country history. The individual members impressed many coaches and athletes from other colleges, and received special recognition from the race director at the Babson invitational. At conference we took 1st, Carl Burgess, 24th, Eric Pape, and 28th, Ray Brenner, proving that the lack of numbers did not represent a lack of talent. So next year do not take the cross country team for granted give them your support as they rebuild to carry on the winning tradition.

A Smashing Season!

Below: Not an easy return, but only with strength and power does Tonya return the ball.

The 1989 Eastern Nazarene College Women's Tennis Team experienced a series of emotions as the season progressed — elation over winning their first five matches; frustration when a week of rain brought postponement and cancellation from three teams who could not be rescheduled. But the final record of 6 wins and 3 losses was both a satisfaction at this year's accomplishment and a challenge for next year's improvement.

The team, which lost 4 seniors last year, is made up of all underclassman. Captained by Tanya Ayres, a sophomore, 6 new recruits and 3 veterans integrated easily and rapidly adjusted to mold a solid team. The doubles teams played particularly well together and posted numerous wins, while thoroughly enjoying the type of play which doubles offers.

If dedication, effort, and enthusiasm remain as high, the future looks bright for women's tennis next year.

We BE Jammin!

The 1989-90 Crusader team saw a roller coaster season. They lost some very close games at the beginning of the year before winning the Cadet Classic at Norwich University. They beat Nichols & Anna Maria. Jon Rice was named All-Tourney. At the end of the fall semester, the Crusaders had a disheartening record of 2-8. Second term saw a glimpse of improvement when the Crusaders won three in a row, beating U-Maine Augusta, U-Maine Farmington, and Suffolk University. During the Suffolk game, Sr. Jon Rice reached the milestone of the 1,000 pt. club. After a few downs came the two biggest wins of the year over Nyack (59-58), and St. Joes of Maine (80-75). The Crusaders finished the season by competing in the Kings Tourney in N.Y. where they displayed the best ball of the season.

This year's squad was led in scoring/rebounding by Jon Rice who averaged 17.4 pt/gm & 6.2 reb./gm. Mark Mann supplied an outside threat avg. with 10.6 pts/gm, and shooting 43 percent from 3 pt. land. Junior Keith Campbell chipped in with 8.9 pts/gm, shooting 79 percent from the charity stripe. The Sheets tandem led the team in inflicting injuries to their teammates, and added a combined 14 pts/gm. Kipp Caldwell and Eric Heizer led the freshmen attack with a combined 16 points per game, and 7.9 rebounds.

On The Rebound!

The 1989-1990 Women's Basketball Team finished the year with an 8-14 record. The record was disappointing, but not unexpected, as the team entered the season knowing it was young and facing a tough schedule against many of the top Div. III. Teams. The squad consisted of 9 sophomores and 2 juniors, with sophomores Tricia Bradley (12.3 ppg) and Wendy Klittich (10.2) leading the way in scoring. Highlights of the year include a 7-5 home record and big wins over rivals King's and Nyack. Juniors Sue Bethune and Jamie Herbertson supplied good leadership, both on and off the court, while sophomores Patty Dagley and Nicki LaRocco were big surprises as they were thrust into a prominent role quicker than expected. With all players returning, the team is looking forward to a big year next season.

Crusaders Hit Home!

Below: Do Not turn around.

The 1990 softball season saw the ENC women gain a great deal of respect from Massachusetts colleges. Though frustrated by early rains that wiped out eight regular season games, the Lady Crusaders put together a modest four game winning streak, finishing the season with an 8-10 record.

This year we say good-bye to Vickie (Hopkins) Flemming who rejoiced the program after a two-year absence and filled a void in the outfield. Also leaving is Della Fields, who'll return to Maryland to complete her nursing program after two years at ENC.

This year, we also said hello to two new faces — freshmen Amy Becker and Deanna Thulin, and transfer Crystal Allison. Amy made a big contribution, and handled much of the pitching duties, while Crystal solidified the infield and was a surprise pitcher who helped us through some tough double-headers and earned five wins to lead the team.

Veteran talented players Amy Green, Rachel McVey, Nicole Larocco, Rebekah Corbin, Denise Winey and Captain Buffy Boden all worked well to lend backbone to the ENC effort. Should they choose to return next season, the Lady Crusaders will be ready to continue a winning tradition.

Big Daddy Sisson

Let's Play Ball!

This year's Crusader baseball team didn't fare very well (2-16), as the inexperience of a team composed primarily of freshmen and sophomores showed. Bright spots of this year's squad were Ed Tierney who averaged .480, and made the All District team; Jon Roe, who earned a .303 average; and Mike Hahn, with a .280 average, two homeruns; and seven stolen bases. All three of these players were nominated for NAIA All-District Teams.

Making a lot of Racket!

With no returning players from 1989's starting 6, the men's tennis team took it on the chin all season. Even the rain took it's toll washing out the one match against the only victim of last year's 1-8 season leaving the 1990 team with an 0-8 record. Next year could bring about a welcome change as all the members of this year's team will return for another season. With more experience and some incoming freshman players to bolster the squad we are optimistic about the '91 season.

Organizations play an important role in the Blueprints of Life. There are many ways that a builder can construct a building, but they might not always be the best way. They always say that two minds are better than one, and a whole group can be helpful too.

A builder can not construct a building by himself, either. Each person in the group plays a vital part whether he or she has a big or a little job. Working together in organizations can accomplish many things. This is how we make the blueprints of this world.

Ads are the way we leave written proof of the blueprints we weave throughout life. Each of these sets of blueprints shows how we decided to leave that mark.

Just like the builder who builds his house on the sand, if we do not leave our mark on the right road, it will soon collapse. If, though, we are like the builder who built his house on the solid rock and on the right path, it will be a lasting endeavor.

Christ is that solid rock for us and we must keep our sights on him at all times. If we truly follow Christ, then we will get our reward. And if the blueprints or ads are right, then it will all pay off. Just keep your eyes on him.

A BLESSED EVENT....

....A BLESSING TO ME!

By You I have been upheld from birth Psalm 71:6

"It is not for me to find my place in this world, in life, among friends, as a christian or in my family but to accept my place in the center of His will and in the midst of His heart!"

With love & blessings,
Mom

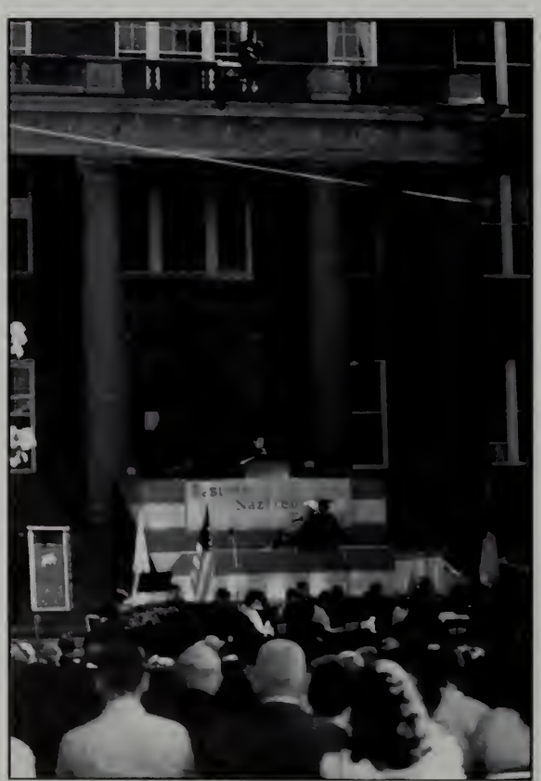
Colophon

The NAUTILUS is an annual publication by the students of Eastern Nazarene College. The 1990 NAUTILUS, Volume 68, was published by Herff Jones Yearbook Division in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. The 750 limited edition press run was overseen by customer service adviser Jan McGaughlin. Glenn Holden was the publisher's representative.

The 1990 NAUTILUS is on 9 X 12 inch format with 236 pages printed on 80 pound bordeux paperstock. With exceptions, the text face is Roman Times. Base ink color is Black HJ 970.The cover was exclusively designed by Simon Jordan in Antique Blue with one applied color. Cover binding is Smyth-sewn. Endsheets are printed in grey. Seniors, undergraduates, and faculty as well as some of the events were processed by Yearbook Associates of P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, Massachusetts, 01349.

i've finished, and to be honest i don't know what to say. i'd spin on my head - if i could, or shout 'swing ya beef' - if people wouldn't interpret it wrong. so i'll say thank you. thank you to all those people who spent their time, money, energy and creative juices that made this book. there are some individuals who i would like to especially thank. first of all to laura 'the right arm' tempesta to her commitment. to stephen 'mo money' wilson who said the buck stops here, and the buck stopped there! for all his hours in the office and writing letters to bring in the cash and his careful watch to make sure i didn't waste it. andrew 'you the man' brennan what can i say but you the man! sammy 'the master' jean and angie 'the real editor' deel you guys are awesome the people behind,'behind 'the scenes whose work made this book, let me underline that - made this book possible. also among the few, the proud and the faithful are james heyward and deanna thulin who both took on assignments and completed them. kevin haworth merits a special award for all his work. and warm thanks goes to prof. michael ballard, carolyn stecher, michelle berkey, paul wilson, juliana kolson, ruthie laudermilk and melissa pierce. the last person but definitely not the least is to my rep. glenn holden for all his work support and advise, thanx buddy.

you're probably thinking i thought i said i had nothing to say (so did i!) no doubt you will find errors. maybe a few misspelled words (probably more than a few) or a couple of misspelled names, or maybe some people appear on every page while you only once, or you don't like the way you look, to you i apologize, and if i have truly offended you please don't complain to me, but to james franklin heyward II my successor who will gladly listen to you.



one thing i would like for you to note - making a yearbook is no easy task, and i think i can`say for us all (i.e. the editors before me and the editors proceeding me) its a once in a lifetime thing!

'...for from Him, and through Him, and to Him are all things. to Him be the glory forever and ever Amen.'
